To: Mary Schulz <schulzlaw@me.com>

Ms. Schulz:

Please note I provide times that I intend to call you to resolve our discovery dispute due to my inability to reach you in this matter in the past. (See, e.g. non-response to email of 10/24/13; email of 11/5/13 noting that I called multiple times to secure compliance with court orders; and your email of 11/13/13 admitting to failures to respond). I will try once again on Monday, January 6, 2014 at approximately 1:30 PM to contact you. If you are for some reason unavailable then, please advise as to when is a good time to speak to you to resolve this discovery dispute.

Again, due to the past issues in contacting you, if you do not take my call, do not let me know you are unavailable and schedule a new time, or call me prior to the time above, I must assume that you are not willing to speak to me in a timely manner to resolve the discovery disputes outlined in my January 2, 2014 letter.

Again, this is an attempt to resolve a discovery dispute, along with my telephone calls. The issues are outlined in my letter of 1/2/14.

Sincerely,
Jonathan LA Phillips
